Response to students who do not follow the school dress code

It is expected that parent/carers will support the school in upholding the standardised uniform by purchasing clothing that conforms to the uniform required. If students are noticed in the wrong uniform, they will be expected to wear our spare uniform if available. Those arriving in the wrong shoes will be expected to wear a pair of our plimsolls. If students refuse to wear the uniform or plimsolls provided, they may be escorted to lessons, but will always be isolated at break and lunch until they have the correct uniform. A girl wearing a skirt that we consider to be too short will be asked to wear trousers to school.

Where students are seen in school with facial piercings in and refuse to remove them they will work in isolation/ supervised lesson time until they remove the piercing. They may be escorted to some lessons but will always be isolated during social time in the school day.

Students who come to school with unacceptable hair colouring, nail extensions or nail gels will be given a date to have these issues resolved by. During this period, they will be isolated during social time in the school day.

Infringements of the uniform policy need to be resolved to the school's satisfaction and a date will be given to students to resolve the issue by. During this time, students will be isolated at social times and escorted to lessons. If the issue is still not resolved to our satisfaction by the date agreed with the student, he/she may be educated by an alternative provider until he/she is prepared to meet our uniform expectations.
