YEAR 7

ENGLISH: Y7 have been performing extracts from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" summarising the plot and exploring the characters. This is part of their ongoing analysis of why Shakespeare is so highly regarded by so many, with them ultimately being able to make up their own minds about Shakespeare's relevance and worth to contemporary 12 year olds.

TECHNOLOGY: Y7 are adding the last of the decorative techniques to their cushions. For most of them it's the first time using the sewing machine and they've been brilliant. They're becoming more confident with the different parts of the sewing machine and are able to thread it themselves.

The aromas wafting through the school from the food tech room has sent everyone's senses into overdrive this term! Y7 have made some outstanding cottage/shepherds/cheese and potato pies and learning all about food labelling and its importance to us as consumers.

YEAR 8

ENGLISH: Y8 have been exploring themes and characterisation in George Bernard Shaw's playscript "Pygmalion", relating it to the Greek myth of the same name. They are considering how the play presents feminism and what it can say about the relationships between the genders as well as class division in today's society.

TECHNOLOGY: Y8 are currently pinning and tacking their locker storage container, ready to machine sew and add the pockets. They have got some very interesting designs, including tie dye.

Year 8 have completed their rough puff pastry, making an impressive array of sausage rolls, pizza puffs and salmon en croutes and learning all about the flavour star in preparation for their cookie invention test.

At BMS we wholly appreciate the changes our young pupils are experiencing as they grow and develop. At times it can be challenging to know the best way to support and encourage your child positively. The link below is very resourceful with guidance and advice that may be of use to you. Thank you.
