ECO SCHOOLS @ CBEC

By Mrs Hinksman

On the 5th June, Cranbourne's Gifted & Talented students were given the opportunity to find out more about university choices before then making a working windmill for a jelly babies prize. The three criteria for the task were aesthetics, aerodynamics and costings. The designs were very different, ranging from some made out of just paper and straws and others using stiff calico.

Comments from the students on the day:

- "It was fun to learn about Eco Schools." - Lewis
- "Very creative!" - Mya
- "The university session made me look to the future." - Sid
- "It was really fun!" - Emily
- "I never knew that I could make a windmill, but now I've put my mind to it, I can!" - Sam

CHILD DEVELOPMENT NURSERY VISIT

Year 10 Child Development students recently visited Kings Furlong Nursery to help them prepare for not only the next Controlled Assessment assignment but also for their exam. The students had a fascinating insight into how a nursery operates as well as having quality time with the 3- and 4-year-olds. Specifically, they were instructed to ask about and research Health and Safety requirements, the curriculum - including play, and also the facilities available. The students were completely absorbed in the experience and have now had the chance to talk to these pre-school children, work alongside them and also help with lots of the practical activities including planting runner beans, helping with craft tasks and story time. They are now busy writing up their notes and evaluating this invaluable experience!

Dear Parents/Carers,

As Year 11 are reaching the end of the exam season we would like to commend them on their conduct throughout the exams. They still have a few more exams to complete before they hang up their CBEC uniform for the last time. Before completely leaving the college students will be invited to a leaver's assembly to share memories of their time here. They also have the Leavers Ball to look forward to where we are all looking forward to seeing them in their finery exiting a fleet of limos as they arrive to celebrate their time with us.

The next exciting and nerve wracking step will be collecting their exam results in August, where college places will be determined; we hope to see lots of happy faces. We wish them all the best for a bright, happy and successful future.

It is always a delight to welcome future generations of CBEC students into the college and we are grateful to the staff who have worked hard to provide a host of stimulating opportunities. The year 7s who have worked with the junior school pupils have been absolutely outstanding and a credit to the college.

The end of term is always an extremely busy time and we will soon be inviting applications from Year 10 students to form the new senior prefect team. More of this in the next issue!

With very best wishes,
 Mr Fleeman and Ms Long

YEAR 8 HANDBALL TOURNAMENT

On Thursday 21st May the Year 8 Inter-tutor Handball tournament took place, as a reward for all students who had achieved 120 stamps or more since Easter. Unfortunately, Dd were unable to field a team, so Vp and Kl had to double up against Sy, Am and Ri. All tutor groups played each other in a Round Robin tournament, with Am being the outstanding team by beating all other teams they faced. Am also faced the teachers for their final but unfortunately the tutor group were unable to match up to the experience and skill of the teachers, losing the final 5-2, but fun was still had by all.

Well done to everyone who took part!

SUMMER SPECTACULAR 2015

When: Thursday 16th July, 6.30pm

Where: CBEC

Join us for a festival in an evening and a celebration of the arts! Students' work in drama, music, art, textiles and photography will all be celebrated!

STUDENT SCOUTED BY PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALLERS

A CBEC Year 8 student recently took part in a tournament in Basingstoke and his skills were watched by representatives of several major football teams. While playing for his team, Hatch Warren Phoenix, Aime caught the eye of talent scouts from Chelsea, Southampton, Bournemouth and Pro Way Academy. After seeing Aime in action that have asked him to take part in football trials on Monday 22nd June.

When asked how he felt about the experience, he said: "I am really excited because Chelsea is a team in my family that everyone supports. Now that I have the opportunity to play for them I am really happy." Well done, Aime!

DEBATING SOCIETY

By Miss Phin

Cranbourne is part of the Basingstoke Schools Debating society. It was set up last year by Aldworth School as part of the First World War centenary events but all schools involved enjoyed it so much that we decided to keep it going. Last week The Vyne School hosted the drawing of the lot ceremony where we found out that CBEC will be arguing for the following statements: "the pen is mightier than the mouth" and "everyone has a right to an education". The ceremony was also an opportunity for the teams to meet each other before the final competition is held here at Cranbourne in July. As you can imagine, as last year's winners we are very keen to defend our title!
