Dear Parents / Carers

2nd November 2018

Further to our letter at the start of this week and our update from yesterday, we can confirm that Fullwood Primary will re-open for all pupils on Monday 5th November.

The electrical engineers are installing an alternative electrical supply to the school and they will complete the installation of this over the next 24 hours. This will ensure that the school has an electrical supply next week of sufficient capacity to provide a resilient and secure electrical system to the school. The alternative supply will remain in place for further remedial works to be completed and it will allow these works to be carried out without disrupting the day-to-day operation of the school. However, while we are confident the school will re-open, should this not resolve the issue we have made alternative education provision for all pupils from Monday morning, so pupils should arrive at school at the normal time on Monday.

The LA recognise just how difficult this break in your children's education will have been and we know that this will have created real challenges and frustrations for families so as we have said previously, we apologise for the effect this unplanned closure will have had on your children and your family.

We will write to all parents again next week to provide a further update on the progress of other remedial works.

In addition, several parents and carers have written to me individually and I will endeavour to respond to those individual queries over the coming weekend.

Yours sincerely
