

Religious Education

RE offers distinctive opportunities to promote pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural development.

The core purpose of RE is to engage pupils in exploring and responding to challenging questions raised by religion and worldviews, so that they can develop the knowledge, understanding and skills needed to appreciate and appraise varied responses to these questions, including their own.

All children need to acquire core knowledge and understanding of the beliefs and practices of the religions and worldviews which not only shape their history and culture but which guide their own development. The modern world needs young people who are sufficiently confident in their own beliefs and values that they can respect the religious and cultural differences of others, and contribute to a cohesive and compassionate society.

At Fullwood we aim to provide all children with opportunities to know about and understand a range of religions and worldviews, so they can describe, analyse and explain beliefs and practices. We want children to be able to express their own ideas about the significance and impact of religions as well as appreciate why beliefs, values and commitments may be important in their own and other people's lives.
