

ALUMNI

George Bolland left Kenilworth School with an excellent set of GCSE and A level results going on to study Sports Management at Loughborough University. He has had a life long love of sport and is a dedicated Middlesbrough fan, going to as many matches as he can with his father and so he really enjoyed all areas of university life, both academic and social. Whilst he was at Loughborough he contributed to the day to day running of the university as Sports Development Officer, Chair of his Hall of Residence and also Student Union Disability Officer. Even with all these additional responsibilities George achieved a 2:1 in 2014.

Since then he has secured a job working at the English Federation of Disability Sport on the Sainsbury's Active Kids for All Inclusive Community and PE training programmes. He has just been given a promotion and had his contract renewed and is really loving his work.
