Last week we heard about a lawyer at the start of his career and this week we have news of a lawyer who is very well established at the top of the legal profession.

Michael Todd QC also studied at Kenilworth, and he was called to the bar in 1977 and took silk and became a QC in 1997. He is Head of Erskine Chambers where he specialises in litigation and transactional advice on company law, corporate finance, capital markets and corporate insolvency, both in the UK, the Privy Council and internationally in Hong Kong, Bermuda, British Virgin Islands and the Cayman Islands to name but a few. He is frequently sought out as a lawyer for his 'great gravitas' and he 'combines a first class intellect with a practical mind to find solutions.' As well as being Chair of Chancery Bar Association he was Chairman of the Bar of England and Wales in 2012.

If you have any news about what former Kenilworth School are doing now, please email alumninews@ksnadmin.ksn.org.uk and they will feature in a future news letter
