

THAMES VALLEY POLICE OPEN DAY

This year's Thames Valley Police Open Day will be taking place between 10am and 4pm on Saturday 10 August and will be hosted at the force's training centre in Sulhamstead.

We have over 50 exhibitors attending to showcase their work and contribution to policing, these include our Roads Policing Unit, Forensic Investigations Unit, Contact Management team and Specialist Operations teams. The force museum will also be celebrating its return to the Sulhamstead, and will be open all day for you to discover the force's history and stop by the shop.

We have displays from our dogs section, our local search and rescue dogs and our public order team who have a new twist in store this year. The force helicopter will be dropping by with an opportunity for you to meet the pilots and grab a photo.

If you want to learn more about the force and some of the roles we undertake visit one of our exciting talks taking place throughout the day.

The fancy dress competition will be returning for its third year, and children can come dressed in their best police themed costume to be in a chance of winning a fantastic prize.

This year, we also have a scavenger hunt for you to get involved in, which will see you take a trip round our stalls to follow the clues and bring out your inner detective.
