Dear Families,

To be courageous requires no exceptional qualifications, no magic formula; it's an opportunity that sooner or later is presented to all of us.

--John F. Kennedy

This term we are going to focus on our COURAGE value. We will explore the lives of a wide range of people who have shown courage in some way. Over the term we aim to draw out features of human courage. We began with the story of Malala Yousafzai who fought for the right for girls to be educated, even when faced with personal danger because of her point of view. From learning about Malala, we agreed that people who are brave might also be afraid. The children concluded that being brave is sometimes feeling scared but showing courage anyway. You may have noticed the 'Malala' quotes written on the glass at school for the children to think, and talk about.

Good News - New Parking Allowance

We are pleased to be able to inform you that Mainstay have extended the time for parents to park in School House Lane, without being at risk of being fined to 4:15pm Monday to Friday. This will allow families to collect their children from clubs which end at 4pm, without being issued a ticket.

Mainstay did ask that I inform families that they are likely to rescind this new arrangement if Mainstay continue to observe families parking on the pavement or on the zebra crossing, so it is even more important now to ensure any inappropriate parking stops immediately. The street parking signage will remain the same, though the 4:15pm extension is effective from today.
