Dear Parents

Ramadan is nearly over and I hope that all of our parents and children who celebrate Eid have a wonderful celebration. Eid Mubarak to you all! Eid parties at school will take place on the afternoon of Monday 18th June. Children will be allowed to wear their own clothes during this day and to bring in food for the afternoon celebration.

As you know, ‘No Outsiders’ and equality is something that we work hard on at Parkfield and there was a great event in the news last week, as women in the UK celebrated 100 years since the Suffragette Movement. This movement helped to ensure that women, like men, could vote. One of the leaders of this was a lady called Emmeline Pankhurst. The website below is a great starting point for children to find out more about this important woman. This would make a great little research project, for you as parents, to give to your children as extra homework. Your child’s class teacher would love to see any art work or research carried out. There might even be house points available if they are really impressed.

Thank you to those parents who have completed their school questionnaires already. The final date to return these is Tuesday 19th June. If you have lost your questionnaire, please visit the school office and they will be happy to provide you with another copy.

This week’s Mathletics Megastars are:

Yayhe 4FM 5B

Haziman 5G

A big well done to 5B, who have again scored the highest in the school! Be weary though as 40 were very close behind!

Recently, I have not had many people show that they are on the leader board. If you are, take a picture and show your teacher or myself to receive a prize.

KenKen

ATTENTION ALL MATHMATICIANS! Are you hungry for a challenge? Are you a master of fluency? Do you think you can step up to the Ken Ken Challenge?

Outside the lower hall you will find the Ken Ken Challenge board. Here you will be able to collect a weekly Ken Ken, which you can complete and return in the box provided. Be sure to include your name and class! Each winner will receive a fabulous mathematical prize!

ON YOUR MARKS... GET SET... KEN KEN!

Using the digits 1, 2 and 3, complete the Ken Ken.

You must not have the same digit in each column or row.

The darker outlined areas are called cages.

Using the operator in the top corner of that cage, you must reach the given number.
