Introduction

The John Fisher School takes its responsibility of care for its students seriously and fully endorses the principles and practice of safeguarding and child protection.

We recognise that a member of staff may behave in an inappropriate way to a student which means it must be investigated thoroughly.

Any investigation of an allegation of abuse against a member of staff must follow the local and national guidance.

Allegations of abuse against staff should not be dealt with under the school's general complaints procedure.

The school have adopted the guidance and procedures for Managing Allegations Against Staff from the following documents:

- Sutton's LSCB LADO protocol 2016
- Keeping Children Safe in Education 2016
