

2019 Exam preparation Possible things to consider for your revision

- Not all subjects require the same amount of revision.
- Do not put things off. Starting early will allow for a more sensible pace of revision.
- Use each revision session planned for just that: revision. Tidying your room, arranging your pens, sharpening pencils, texting friends, checking Facebook – none of these count as doing any work!
- Use free time during lunch. Friends may be able to help in school.
- Do not exclude your parents. They may want to help and you might like to involve them where it is useful.
- Do not neglect subjects because you do not intend to pursue them at A level. You are working towards the best grades possible in all of your GCSE subjects. You will make your choices further down the line.
- If you have particular concerns and worries, speak to somebody – subject teacher, form tutor, Head of Year. Shoving it under the carpet will not help.
- Don't panic! People have been sitting exams for years.
